July 20, 2016, Oakland California

Phyllom BioProducts Corp. a developer of microbial insecticides for Forests, Farms and Landscapes announces the company's products beetleGONE!® and grubGONE!® were selected as Agrow 2016 awards finalist, in the category “Best New Biopesticide”

FINALIST

While there's no swimsuit competition, according to Agrow this award goes to the best new crop protection product derived from a naturally occurring organism. Contest applicants are not asked to focus on environmental and toxicological safety in the application because these critical characteristics are considered inherent in biopesticides. Rather, an independent panel of senior industry experts make up the international judging panel. They seek products that are not only effective, but formulated for acceptance by the end user and commercial distribution channel. The winners are judged, likely to capture share in a market dominated by synthetic chemicals.

John Libs, Phyllom CEO commented, “On behalf of our shareholders and team, I am ecstatic that we are being recognized for our ingenuity, hard work, and willingness to take risk: we are honoured to receive this recognition from the crop protection industry's leading global information source”
